

Safe online

Cyberbullying

Cyberbullying is a bad decision that some people make online. This is what we say to many people, "Think Before you type anything online!" Cyberbullying online can affect others feelings right away. If this ever occurs to you, make sure you tell an adult right away. If it happens again don't respond. If you have any account where you can chat make sure you don't chat with anybody you don't know. Don't accept others friend requests if you don't know them.

Information Never give your information!

When you are online DO NOT give anybody your personal information. WHY? This can cause issues either they are trying to track you down or steal your identity. Your personal information could be: your address, phone number, birth date, age, or any other information. Also, if you have a profile of any website even if it's your friend, don't give them your username and password. Make sure you don't give your information!

conclusion

In conclusion, this world will be so much better, if you were safe online. The world will thank you for everything you do to be safe online. I hope you learned a lot from our lesson.
