

Cyber bullying

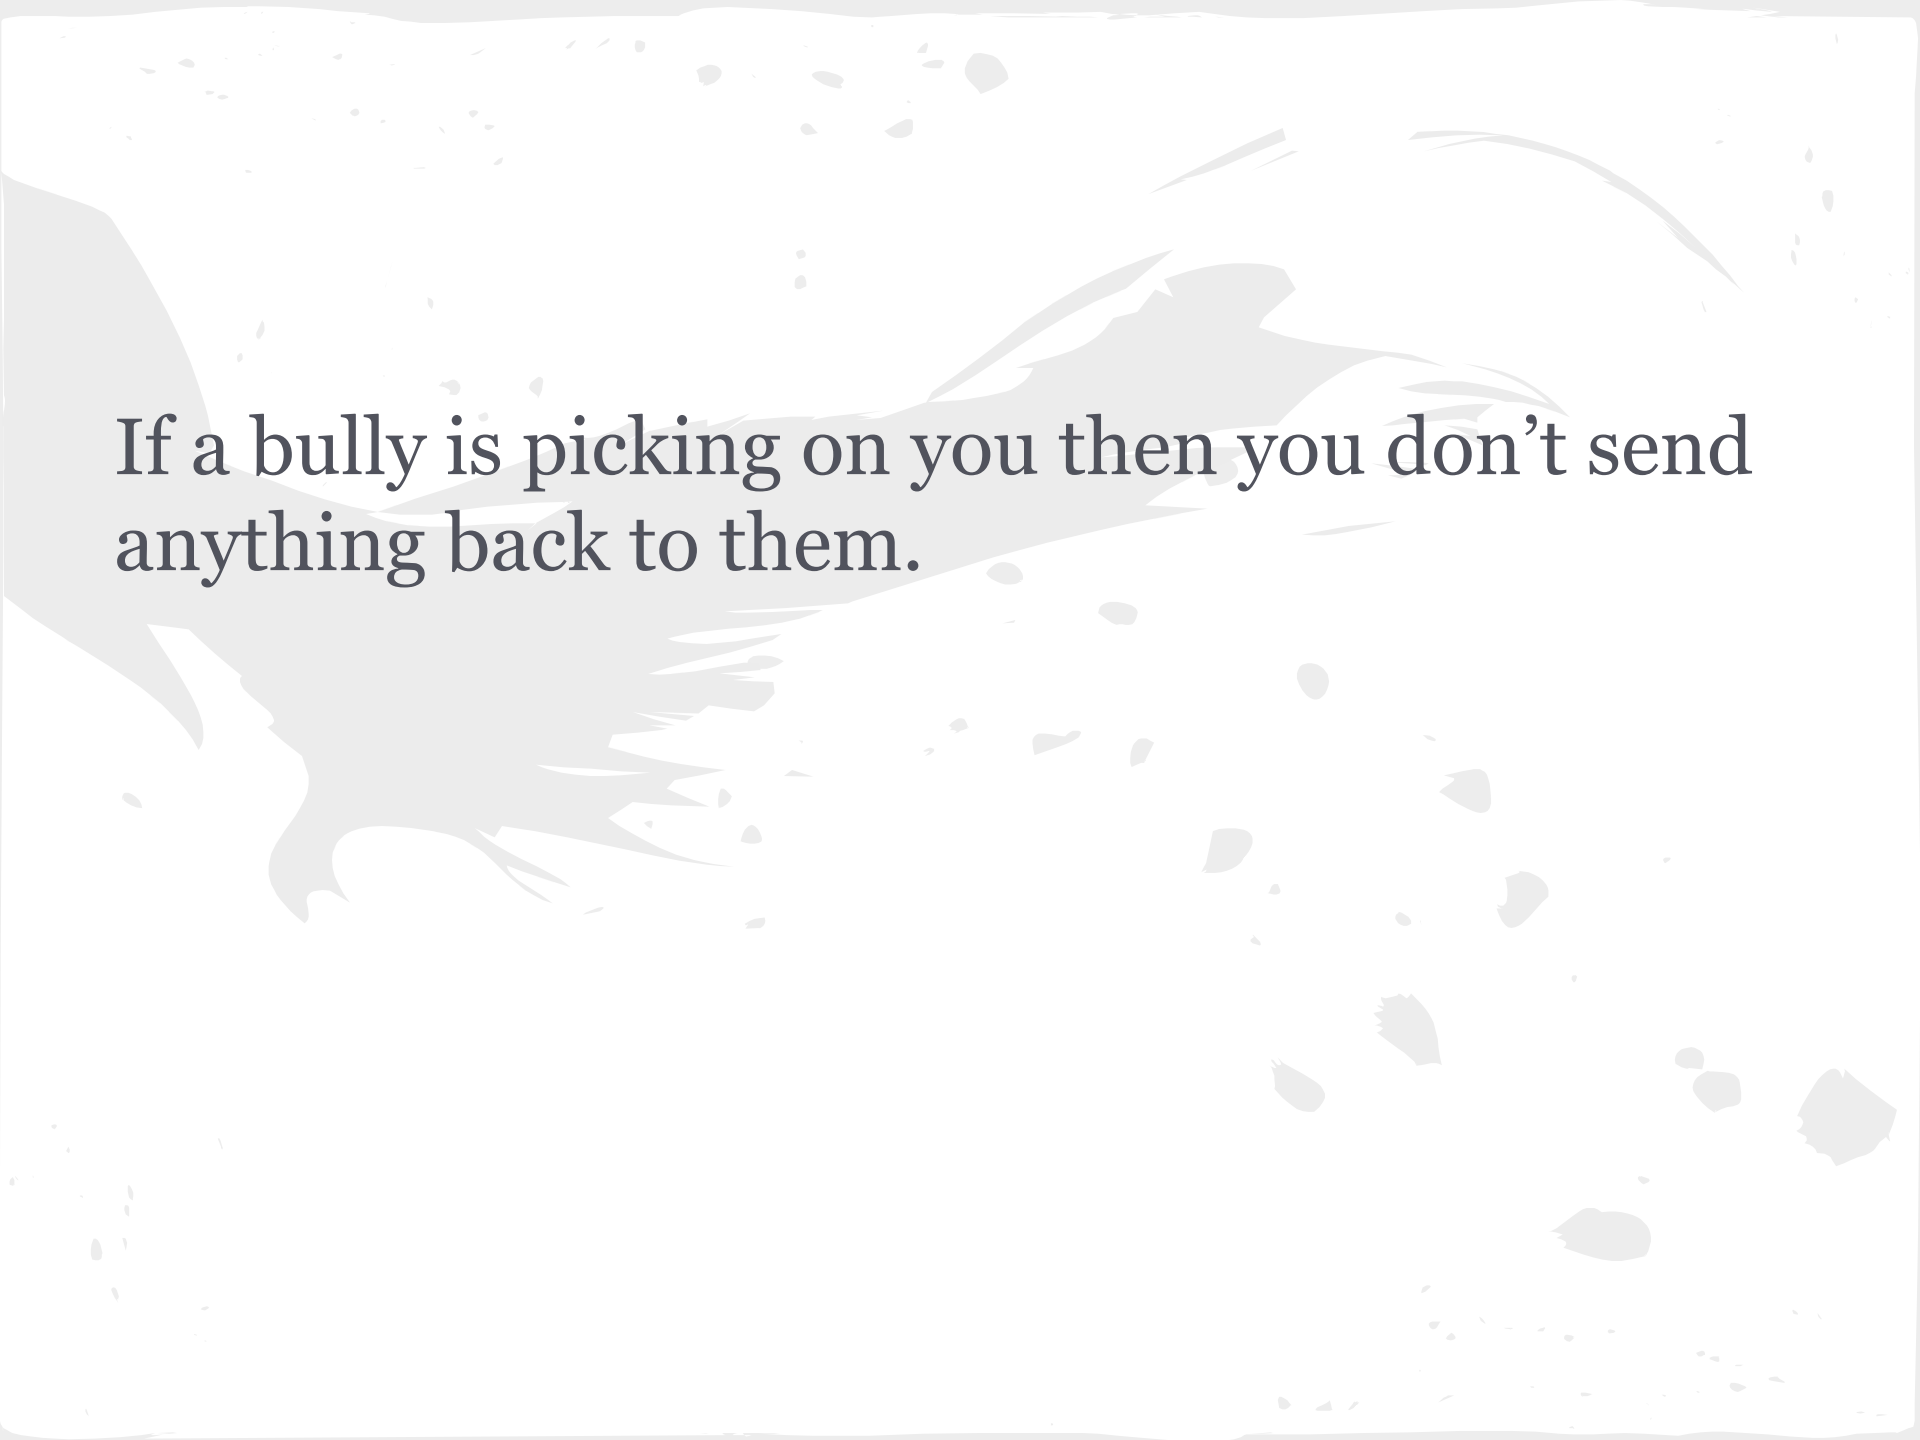

Gabriel M

First, I would like to say that never and I mean never be mean online to anyone that is online even when she or he was being mean to you. You should still be nice to them or just ignore their message that they sent to you.

Next, I would like to tell you it is important to be nice not to be mean anywhere and to anyone even if it is at a store.

Finally, I would like to say that every kid that goes to a website has to be careful on the internet because sometimes things just pop up and makes kids click it. Then they have to go back to the website they were on.

If a bully is picking on you then you don't send anything back to them.
