Cyber Bullying

Be safe on blogs and don't open emails of people that you don't know.

Also, on blogs never give your personal information to people you don't know.

In addition, always keep your blog safe and don't tell anyone your passwords.

The reason you shouldn't give passwords or personal information is because you and your family need to stay safe.

Cyber bullies bully you in real life and on the internet.

If someone starts cyber bullying you just try to ignore and delete the emails or tell your parents.

I'm telling you this because if you get on to a blog that you need to be careful because this could happen to anyone.
